STREAMLINE THE COLLECTION OF AUTHOR CHARGES ON YOUR SITE

SAFE AND SECURE E-COMMERCE OPTIONS

Journals using ScholarOne Manuscripts™ can seamlessly integrate payment options into their production workflow process.

Many journals, societies, and publishers collect fees from their authors as part of the post-acceptance production process. Fees are variable and may be based on any number of items such as the number of figures or pages in the manuscript, the type of article being published, society or association membership of one or more authors, reprints charges, or fees for open access publication. With ScholarOne Manuscripts's post-acceptance e-commerce capabilities, implementing a payment system is quick and simple. With the secure and seamless integration of the PayPal® gateway, you can be assured that your system and your author's privacy are completely safeguarded.

ScholarOne Manuscripts e-commerce capabilities can be used for any currency and are completely automated. Author payment totals are calculated, and payments are directly deposited into your established merchant account. You save valuable time by eliminating the administrative effort normally required.
